SCENARIO A

You want to fly from Boston to San Francisco on the first weekend in December (Saturday, December 5 or Sunday, December 6). You'd like to return to Boston on the following Wednesday, in the evening if possible. Your main concern is that all the flights be on Continental, since you are trying to maximize your frequent-flyer miles. Identify one flight in each direction that you can take.

ANSWER:

- Date and Flight Number(s) Boston to San Francisco:
- Flight Number(s) San Francisco to Boston:

SCENARIO B

You live in Pittsburgh. You want to combine a business trip to Atlanta with pleasure by taking a friend along. You will receive a fixed travel allowance, based on the least expensive FIRST-class round trip ticket on Delta Airlines. Find a fare that allows you to cover the round trip expenses for both you and your friend based on the Delta first class fare. You would like to leave next Wednesday and arrive before 8:00 A.M. in Atlanta, and to leave Atlanta on Sunday after 7:00 P.M.

ANSWER:

- Airline(s) and Flight Number(s) from Pittsburgh to Atlanta:
- Airline(s) and Flight Number(s) from Atlanta to Pittsburgh:

SCENARIO C

Tom (who lives in Philadelphia) wants to meet his friend this weekend in Pittsburgh. Since Tom is a frequent flyer, he will earn a free flight if he uses Delta Airlines. He agrees to take any combination of Delta flights provided:

1. He can spend at least 24 hours in Pittsburgh.
2. He leaves Philadelphia Saturday morning after 8:00 A.M. and departs from Pittsburgh sometime on Sunday.
3. He has at least one hour between flights if he has to change planes.
4. He gets at least one meal in each direction.

Find the suitable flights for Tom.

ANSWER:

- Flight Number(s) from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh:
- Flight Number(s) from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia:

SCENARIO D

You are the producer of a high-budget Hollywood production that looks as though it will go over budget. To help keep costs down, some of the scenes will be shot in Pittsburgh to take advantage of its beautiful architecture. You are personally making the flight reservations for the film star to insure that nothing goes wrong.

She will fly from her summer home in San Francisco to Pittsburgh. She does not get up very early in the morning. The shoot begins at 8 A.M. on a Tuesday morning and will last until Thursday.

When the shooting is over, she will return to San Francisco Thursday evening if possible.

ANSWER:

- Airline(s) and Flight Number(s) from San Francisco to Pittsburgh:
- Airline(s) and Flight Number(s) from Pittsburgh to San Francisco: